Lewis, James Otto. Lithographs, 1835. .10 foot.
Painter. Portraits of Indians, 40 original lithographs (1835), lithographed by Lehman and Duvall. Full original hand coloring. These plates are from a collection of early portraits of American Indian tribesmen.

Biographical Note:
Between 1825 and 1827, Lewis, a Detroit painter, accompanied Governor Lewis Cass of the Michigan Territory on three separate treaty-making trips into the Indian Territory. During these trips he painted more than 250 portraits from life, reportedly portraying only the most notable and colorful chiefs and warriors from all the tribes he encountered.
