Professor. Typescripts (1952) of Willibrand’s speech regarding the twenty-fifth anniversary of Books Abroad (now World Literature Today), and marking the seventieth birthday of its first editor, Roy Temple House; reprints of articles, and periodicals containing articles (1940–1955) authored by Willibrand; and copies of lectures (1946) entitled “Currents in American Thought,” delivered at the Fort Reno, Oklahoma, prisoner-of-war camp by a German inmate just after the close of World War II.